

Bus turned around to pick up visitors

ON Sunday morning a group of 21 young American tourists were waiting at Lake Placid for the 1E bus to the city, but not realising the bus is actually 1G on Sundays, they watched as the bus drove past.

I noticed and informed them that this was in fact the bus they wanted and they would have to wait another two hours for the next bus.

One of the group leaders called Sunbus, and the delightful person on the phone and the wonderful driver told them the bus would turn around and come back for them.

I just want Sunbus to get the recognition they deserve.
